NARBERTH, PENNSYLVANIA, NOVEMBER 5, 1937

PRICE, FIVE CENTS

GOP Carries Borough by Thousand Margin

Closest Contest Was for Magistrate: They're Smedley and Gowland

COUNCILMEN — 3 NEW

All Republican candidates carried Narberth Tuesday, maintaining last year's thousand-vote margin. Squire Joseph Magarity, though defeated for re-election, enjoyed the largest Democratic total—579. President Roosevelt polled 853 here last year; but after all, Joe wasn't running for president.

Judge Holland won 1943 votes, Judge Knight 1941; both judges being unopposed, in accordance with Democratic policy. As a result, their totals were the highest. Prothonotary Beechle won 1538 to his opponent's 390; Glass, for jury commissioner, 1559 to his opponent's 463.

Edwin P. Dold was re-elected tax collector, 1495 to Mrs. Olive S. O'Sullivan's 474. John R. Hall, Burgess, remains such, thanks to 1534 votes to Anton Emil Wohler's 432. P. R. Gifford is still borough auditor, with 1423 votes versus Harvey Cook's 422.

There will be three new borough councilmen: Walter A. Fox, 1529 votes; Henry P. Carr, 1521; Frank A. Schrepfer, 1519;—and Councilman Clarence Kaerber was re-elected, 1505.

Their opponents polled: Kenneth L. M. Pray, 478; Charles Jenkins, 409; Jesse Hause, 404; Bruce E. Beyer, 383.

Well Babies At Child Health Center Volunteer Women's Greatest Interest

The Child Health Center of Narberth. What is it? What does it do? It is the main project of the Women's Community Club of Narberth, established by them in 1930 and supported by them and the Narberth Board of Health. It plays a vital part in the health program of the community. Eight to fifteen children from infancy to school age are examined from 2 to 4 every Wednesday in the Center rooms behind the Fire House. Expectant mothers are shown equipment necessary for a new-born baby and are taught its care.

This is primarily a program in preventive child health, to educate mothers to keep well babies well. This

Silver at Club

Women's Community Hears Miss Brenner; Health Center Bridge is Today

The authentic story of silver in America from 30,000 years B. C. may be told when the expedition now working in Nevada makes its report, according to Miss E. Alberta Brenner, who spoke to 100 members of the Women's Community Club of Narberth, at their meeting Tuesday.

Miss Brenner traced the use of silver from civilization 200,000 years B. C., through the worship of silver images in Babylon, through Queen Elizabeth's time when a person showed his high rank by bringing his own silver spoon to a banquet, through the pounding of crude silver receptacles from coins by the early New England blacksmiths, through the discovery of silver in America in 1869, down to modern times when silver is essential in surgery and in the developing process of movies.

An exquisite silver teapot, said to surpass the work of Cellini, was shown in Miss Brenner's display, as she told the story of Arnold, its creator. In 1915 a wealthy man ordered the Gorham Company to make a service of six pieces, to embody the consummate beauty of all ages. Arnold, chosen to make the decoration, worked 386 days to complete the first piece, the teapot. Then he died and the other pieces were never made, because the teapot, like a painting, could be duplicated by no one but the artist himself. That is why it is called "The Unfinished Masterpiece."

Miss Brenner traced the making of a silver pitcher and showed the tools used in each process. No machinery

No Bandits in Mexico, Rotarians Are Told

Mexico is a safer place to live than the United States according to Charles Bowden, who spoke at the Bala-Cynwyd-Narberth Rotary Club luncheon meeting Tuesday.

Bowden, who was introduced by Dr. Richard Mears, chairman of the day, declared that he never saw a bandit in Mexico, where he has spent considerable time traveling.

The new 760-mile highway to Mexico City was praised as one of the finest highways of the world.

Juniors Rummage

Club's Sale is Next Thursday, to Aid Braille Work. Other Activities

Last call for the Junior Club's Fall Rummage Sale next Thursday. Clothes, dishes, toys, "white elephants" will all be greatly appreciated. The proceeds are to be used in furthering Braille work, the juniors' most outstanding project. Donations will be gladly called for by Miss Kay Wheeler, Braille Committee chairman: call Narberth 4073-M.

The Book Club's second meeting of the year was last night at the Community Building; Mrs. Ellsworth Clarke presided. Speaker was Mrs. E. Towne, well known reviewer of books.

Remember the Blanket and Linen Club? For information call chairman, Mrs. S. Hulme Brown, Narberth 3838-R. Drawings will be made weekly. Mrs. F. Munroe Purse won last night's.

The Halloween Dance given by the juniors at the Cynwyd Club Saturday was a social success. A gay though small crowd breathlessly awaited the judges' decisions on costumes in the Grand March. Outcome: most original, Miss Muriel Wales and Harry Bennett, as two clothes poles; cutest, Miss Eleanor Scott, as a Scottish lassie; funniest, Vic Jenkins as a dandy of the gay 90's. The hostesses were Miss Muriel Wales and Miss Marjory Hoffman.

Monday night at the home of Mrs. Robert Conly, the Child Study Group were entertained by Miss Margaret Squier, who told of her popular Rhythm Band for small children attending her music classes.

Two meetings were attended by club members this week, one being the supper conference Monday night at the Junior Woman's Club of Bala-Cynwyd. Mrs. Spencer Smith and the Misses Bunny Minick, Myrtle Schlipf and Lois Caldwell attended. Mrs. Smith was also a guest of the Philadelphia Record's Publicity Luncheon Thursday at the Ritz-Carlton.

The board of directors will meet at the home of the president, Mrs. Spencer V. Smith, Monday night, when ten applicants' names will be voted upon for club membership.

Children, Friends' Topic

Merion Meeting House on Montgomery avenue, Narberth, will be open to the public 8 P. M. Sunday when Dr. Thomas R. Kelly, of the Department of Philosophy of Haverford College, will speak on "Introducing Children to Religious Ideas." Everyone interested in education of children is invited.

Lease Elm Hall

Approval to lease Elm Hall to Borough Council was voted by the Narberth Fire Company Monday at a special meeting. Option was given council to buy the building—a legal formality to protect the borough because it is carrying the mortgage.

Legion Sings Sunday

At Narberth's M. E. Church, 7:45 P. M., Sunday, the Glee Club of the Frankford American Legion Post will sing; seats free; public invited.

Tom Elwood Takes Over Our Town--Paper's First New Proprietor Since Civic Association Days

Editor To The Letter

Dear Reader:

Ours is a friendly town with a flavor all its own. I hope to give this paper of yours, a flavor that is fittingly distinctive.

Attendance in six churches proclaims our community a Christian one. . . . In schools, in public life, Narberth folks are displaying far higher than average intellect and intelligence. . . . Gauged by ticket sales at the station, by volume of business of the numerous local tradespeople, by city surveys showing relative incomes in the suburbs, and by the number of residents of Who's Who calibre, the town is well above even the swank Main Line level in earning power.

But Narberth for years has suffered from a sense of inferiority, which Change!

For the first time in more than 16 years, Our Town is under the direction of a new publisher.

With the creation of the Merion Press in 1934, the writer planned to withdraw from local newspaper work, devoting his time to a fast-growing printing business. Now, with Tom Elwood's decision to return to publishing, Our Town passes into the hands of one who will give it the personal, constant and intimate attention which it needs.

I took over this fascinating work during college days, and for 862 weeks I've had the responsibility of presenting Narberth's news to Narberth folks.

Well done or badly done, it has been fun. Good luck to you, Tom. Philip Altee Livingston.

The public is cordially invited to attend these services. The speakers are all men of international prominence. They bring a live message from the world of today and from the living Word of God.

Study Emotions

Dr. Mary Wentworth McConaughy Will Address Child Study Group Wednesday

"Those Emotions of Yours" will be the topic of the second monthly meeting of the Child Study Group sponsored by the P. T. A., in the American Legion Room of the Community building, 10:30 A. M., Wednesday. Everyone interested in the guidance and training of youth is cordially invited. An open discussion will follow the talk.

Speaker is Dr. Mary Wentworth McConaughy, Lecturer in Mental Hygiene at Rutgers, Consultant in Mental Hygiene at Mt. Holyoke, and Consulting Psychologist for a group of Friends Schools near Philadelphia. She received her A.B. from Mt. Holyoke, her Masters Degree from University of California, and that of Doctor of Education from the Harvard School of Education.

Squire in Danger

Following an operation at Jefferson Hospital last Friday night, Magistrate H. C. Fritsch, 219 N. Wynnewood, was reported, as OUR TOWN went to press, in critical condition, but with a good chance of recovery.

Philip Livingston Turns Paper Over to Former Bala-Cynwyd News Editor

BIGGER PAPER INDICATED

Effective with this issue of OUR TOWN, Thomas A. Elwood becomes its editor and publisher. This is the first management change in the paper since 1921, and completes the separation of the former Livingston Publishing Company into three individual units.

In July the News of Bala-Cynwyd was taken over by Mrs. Helen G. Greenwood; this week Edwin L. Paxson, former editor of the group of papers, becomes publisher of The Main Line, in Ardmore. OUR TOWN is therefore the sole responsibility of its new publisher.

When, in 1924, Mr. Livingston purchased OUR TOWN from the Narberth Civic Association and began a policy of group publishing which eventually included five units, Tom Elwood worked on the News of Bala-Cynwyd while attending Penn. Last year he gave up his editorship to do a special writing job.

Mr. Livingston, whose printing business has grown highly successful, is now devoting all his time to his Merion Press.

More pages, larger circulation, wider territorial coverage, are the goal of the new publisher.

Founder is Feted

DR. OSCAR JOHN SNYDER first president (1899-1907) of the Philadelphia College of Osteopathy, and president, 1916-17, of the American Osteopathic Association, will be given a testimonial dinner and dance at the Bellevue-Stratford this Saturday, celebrating his 71st birthday. A thousand guests are expected, including three local osteopaths: his son, Dr. Joseph C. Snyder, and Drs. Wesley P. Dunnington and F. Munroe Purse.

THE FIRESIDE

Lots of illness in town. . . . And parties and things.

In addition to the Junior Club dance in Cynwyd, several very special events took place last week-end. One, when Mr. and Mrs. C. Frederick Kuebler, Jr., Narbrook Park, dined 15 guests to celebrate their fifteenth wedding anniversary, Saturday. Mrs. David Harshaw, visiting Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Eichna, her daughter, in New York, returned for the occasion. . . . Mr. and Mrs. William Baily Goodall, of Dudley avenue, spent the week-end in Atlantic City at the Marlborough-Blenheim. . . . On Saturday, Mr. and Mrs. Carleton Francis, Jr., had friends in for a housewarming at their new home on Bryn Mawr avenue, Penn Valley. The Francis family formerly lived in New York City. . . . Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd B. Edgerton, Chestnut avenue, dined Sunday guests from Bell Haven, on the Eastern Shore of Virginia: the Messrs. Edward Sturgis, Sr., Edward Sturgis, Jr., Cecil Sturgis, Leonard Sturgis and Ewell Melson; also Miss Ann V. Foley, Narberth, and Miss June Rambo, Philadelphia.

Miss Betty Mills, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. N. Mills, of Dudley avenue, is recovering from a recent appendectomy.

Mrs. James B. Smith, of Avon road, has just returned from several weeks in New York and Woodhaven, L. I., where she visited her sister, Mrs. E. F. Bedford, and South Orange, N. J.

Nice Work, Governor!

Governor Earle pulled another of his fast ones in having the Pennsylvania Utility Commission order the Philadelphia Electric Company to reduce its rates, effective just before Tuesday's election. Those who have observed the long series of voluntary reductions will recognize that this order probably accomplishes a reduction which was about due anyway. Today's electric tariffs in this section reflect great credit — on Philadelphia Electric's business management.

Main Lines

African dances and dances of the American negro will be included in the program of the Hampton Institute Creative Dance Group Tuesday at 8.30 P. M. at Goodhart Hall, Bryn Mawr College, auspices of the College Entertainment Committee.

William H. Donner, Villanova, has given $200,000 to enable the University (of Pennsylvania) Hospital to create a new radiological and X-ray department. In 1932 Mr. Donner gave $2,000,000 to found the International Cancer Research Foundation.

The "Birth of the Telephone" will be broadcast by The Franklin Institute over Station WCAU this Sunday at 8.45 P. M.

Due to a new high of 2,100,000 motor vehicle registrations in Pennsylvania, J. Griffith Boardman, Secretary of Revenue, is urging motorists to order license plates on receipt of application blank, to be sure of them by January 1.

First Lieutenant William Coulter Elliott, Bryn Mawr, commissioned a P. N. G. officer by Governor Earle, has been placed on the U. S. War Department's payroll for 63 days' annual drill and camp time.

Junior band of the Main Line Post, V. F. W., directed by W. L. Guest and George Lewis, Monday night entertained patients of the Veterans' Hospital, Coatesville.

Disaster Relief Head Tells Women of Red Cross Value

What the American Red Cross accomplishes in times of disaster like the Mississippi flood was vividly described by Robert E. Bondy, national director of Red Cross Disaster Relief Service, in speaking before the Roll Call luncheon at the Merion Cricket Club, Haverford, Monday.

Mrs. Francis H. Sheetz, Roll Call chairman, and Mrs. Henry C. Earnshaw, head of Main Line Branch No. 1, told of the need to raise $300.00 on the Main Line between Armistice and Thanksgiving days.

Gavel Day at Junior High

Fifteenth annual "Gavel Day" at Lower Merion's Junior High Tuesday saw installed as officers: Nancy Pollock, president; Elmer Savers, vice-president; Julia Wood, secretary; Henry Neal, treasurer.

Speakers on American citizenship in daily life were E. E. Burlingame, president of the Township School Board, and Superintendent S. E. Downs.

Speakers for the class rooms were Jane Cline, Marjorie Reilly, Patricia Albany, William Rinkenback, Jay Moloney, Blaine Rawdon, Nancy Grey, Kjell Ingebrigtsen, May Ellen McDonnell, Mary Dunlap, David Kloss, Susan Dickey, Dixon Baldrige, Mary Matthews, Lillian Smith, John Rosengarten, Robert Apt. Marion Mattison, Kathryn Brooks, Robert Stader, Benito Vallorani, Samuel Goodall and Barbara Dailey.

B-C. Head at Penn Valley Club

Penn Valley Garden Club's meeting 10.30 A. M. Monday will be at Mrs. Earl G. Wagner's, Righter's Mill road. Speaker: Mrs. William Kurtz Myers, president of the Garden Club of Bala-Cynwyd. Topic: "Conserve the Christmas Greens."

An executive board meeting was held Thursday at the home of the president, Mrs. John A. Lafore, Penn Valley Farms.

Thanks!

Editor, OUR TOWN:

The Republican Committee wishes to thank the voters of Narberth for the splendid support given at Tuesday's election.

(Signed) Charles V. Noel, Mrs. Louise V. Cockrill, John C. Batchelor, Mrs. Ethel Williams, W. D. R. Evans, Mrs. Margaret Griswold, Narberth Republican Committee.

To The Editor:

May I extend my thanks to all those who helped me on Tuesday?—and congratulations to my opponent!

OLIVE STARK O'SULLIVAN.

To Our Town:

It is my desire to thank the citizens of Narberth for their vote retaining me in the office of Tax Collector.

The folder sponsored by the Democratic party, which was mailed to each resident, can be answered honestly and intelligently, on each of the numbered items. However, I feel that the citizens of the borough as a whole, believe that the people they elect will work out everything possible for safety and convenience, without increasing taxation.

Your vote has been the answer to such confidence.

EDWIN P. DOLD.

EDITOR TO THE LETTER

Your paper will bury—after we've smothered it. Pride will kill it. I ask, first, for pride in your paper, and for your help in making it a source of pride.

I intend to increase your paper's readability, to please you; and its circulation, to please the advertisers and help, as well, every organization in town. . . . For, obviously, the more people who read in your paper of your church, your club, your charity—the more shoulders you can count on, to your wheel—and to our commonweal. Old and new neighbors in Penn Valley, Wynnewood, Merion will join our readers and, perforce, become better friends of our community—shopping in our business center, attending our churches, helping our ball club. . . . And to help our neighbors, and ourselves, our paper must go forward—perhaps with a different name, certainly with a livelier appearance and a more complete satisfying of the town's needs.

A great amount of news requires reporting in and near this lively borough, and our townsmen have enough literary talent to fill each week's Saturday Evening Post. But I've no funds to issue the Post; nor, at present, can your business people, with their advertisements, finance that elephantine job—much as they, and I, want to extend OUR TOWN's scope. And so certain economies must be continued for awhile, until:

(1) our business people rally around a bit better to help the paper help them and you;

(2) our subscription revenue (even now very nice, thank you) is augmented by new readers and by

(3) organizations and business people who grasp the opportunity hereby offered—to sponsor new readers by sharing the cost of mailing sample copies containing their publicity to present and prospective members and customers. . . . I'll be glad to discuss details. . . .

And while we're starting to go places, I ask you to bear with me, please:

(x) Let's avoid Satevepost costs until we can afford them—by making our contributions as brief as their local significance warrants . . . bearing in mind that Creation's story required less words than this preamble of mine.

(y) If at first the informality of our writings—in Fireside, for instance, gives you pause, please forgive my whimsies, as well as those of our contributors—whom I hope will include you.

(z) In Christian charity, we'll try to speak maliciously of no one; but we're going to permit good righteous indignation at wrongs to express itself, and we're going to indulge in good-humored fun when we will.

Sincerely yours,

TOM ELWOOD.

Nicholas Finoia, popular Narberth barber, this week joined the borough's well dressed group through the Christmas Club of the Narberth Men's Shop. And greater cause for thanks—his wife is recovering nicely from an operation that took place last Thursday.

Purse-Snatching On the Train . . . Baby Talk In Lower Merion

It is said that there is a crook for every circumstance and the fact that windows of the trains are easily available from the platforms at the Thirtieth Street Station has induced the light-fingered gentry to get busy in another direction, by reaching in and lifting the purse which is resting on milady's lap just as the train is about to move along. During the Summer this narrator was out of pocket nearly $30 by the snide procedure, as of course he had to make good what the thief took from his lady and, from what was said by the trainmen when the incident occurred, it would appear this business of snitching through the car windows was quite a regular occurrence.

The Police Department of the P. R. R., however, claims that is very infrequent, but women riders should be made aware that there is always a prospect of it and they should see to it that their purses and jewelry are out of harm's way, particularly when the train is at a stop. In our case, the rogue first made a pass at a rather expensive bracelet which fell to the floor in the tussle, and, frustrated there, he successfully made for the purse, with the lady hopelessly inarticulate in the process, which showed the guy had some qualities which we have never been able to acquire.

* * *

Those who have had the patience to read some of the things which were set forth here during the Spring may recall the fulminations which were stirred by the silly and saccharine safety signs which were cluttering up the countryside, and little was it thought that such abominations would ever come to pass in a section which claims the capacity and culture of the Lower Merion neighborhood. Well, here they are, at every portal of the Township, and the most absurd of the entire weird menage, heralding the startling and extraordinary pronouncement that "we love our children" (an emotional outburst of a mining town in 1924) and imploring the motoring public to be mindful of that unique fact.

Of course, says you, that's the Township's own business, but nevertheless these banal things impose a severe tax on diplomatic relations, and is it untoward to suggest that the Commissioners might be induced to provide their own injunctions, as a result of their own intelligence and initiative, and are they not aware that the same stupid signs, all identical and all with the Harrisburg hallmarks, are also profuse in the adjoining townships, thus adding to that harrowing uniformity which is the chief bane of our national scene. To approach the highly important subject of safety on the road in any such puerile manner as this does not square with the Commissioners' general procedure and it is hoped that sober second thought will produce an order to forthwith remove what is unquestionably an affront to the civic alertness and general information of the citizens of the renowned Lower Merion Township.

It was the deceased Gilbert Chesterton, we think, who conceived these children signs (they abound in all the land) as some sort of immature refutation of the charge of barbarism which is sometimes hurled at us by European observers, as no other possible reason could be imagined for their queer existence.

"Stella Dallas" Now at Narberth; is Smash Hit

Barbara Stanwyck runs the gamut of emotions in the poignantly thrilling drama, "Stella Dallas," playing at Narberth for three days this weekend. Anne Shirley portrays her daughter, John Boles her husband, and Alan Hale her lover. It's considered Miss Stanwyck's best role.

For the children's matinee at 1 P. M. there's a specially selected feature.

Monday and Tuesday, "Mr. Dodd Takes the Air"—starring Kenny Baker as a small-town electrical repair man who becomes a sensation on a radio program, turns inventor—and sucker-bait. It's Clarence B. Keland's amusing story. Alice Brady, Gertrude Michael and Jane Wyman help make the show a hit.

"Borneo," the last and best picture of Martin Johnson's, comes Wednesday for Narberth's award night. Ending the week, Sonja Henie and Tyrone Power will give three days' superb entertainment in "Thin Ice."

Rogers Film at Suburban Soon, Has Him in Old Duds

The most successful pictures the late Will Rogers made were those in which he wore old clothes.

Critics point to "David Harum," "State Fair," "Lightnin'," "Handy Andy" and "Judge Priest" to prove their points, citing that Will often declared that since he felt more comfortable in old and well-worn togs, he could give a smoother performance.

"Judge Priest," Twentieth Century-Fox picture, playing next Thursday and Friday at the Suburban Theatre, Ardmore, stars America's great humorist in the title role of Irvin S. Cobb's warmly amusing story of the Kentucky jurist. The "Judge" seldom dresses up, which may be a reason why Will brings a world of humanity surpassing all his previous roles to the beloved character.

Rochelle Hudson, Tom Brown, Anita Louise and Stepin Fetchit are included in the cast.

10 Main Liners on Jury

Jurors called to serve at the second session of the November term of county Criminal Court at Norris-town beginning December 6 include: Florence Beatty, 121 Upland Terrace, Bala-Cynwyd; Mabel Bell, 156 Union avenue, Bala-Cynwyd; Helen Calhoun, 1308 Hillside road, Wynnewood; Helen Challenger, 222 Lantwyn lane, Narberth; Frederick D. Disaster Relief Head Tells Women of Red Cross Value

What the American Red Cross accomplishes in times of disaster like the Mississippi flood was vividly described by Robert E. Bondy, national director of Red Cross Disaster Relief Service, in speaking before the Roll Call luncheon at the Merion Cricket Club, Haverford, Monday.

Mrs. Francis H. Sheetz, Roll Call chairman, and Mrs. Henry C. Earnshaw, head of Main Line Branch No. 1, told of the need to raise $300.00 on the Main Line between Armistice and Thanksgiving days.

Gavel Day at Junior High

Speakers on American citizenship in daily life were E. E. Burlingame, president of the Township School Board, and Superintendent S. E. Downs.

Speakers for the class rooms were Jane Cline, Marjorie Reilly, Patricia Albany, William Rinkenback, Jay Moloney, Blaine Rawdon, Nancy Grey, Kjell Ingebrigtsen, May Ellen McDonnell, Mary Dunlap, David Kloss, Susan Dickey, Dixon Baldrige, Mary Matthews, Lillian Smith, John Rosengarten, Robert Apt. Marion Mattison, Kathryn Brooks, Robert Stader, Benito Vallorani, Samuel Goodall and Barbara Dailey.

B-C. Head at Penn Valley Club

Penn Valley Garden Club's meeting 10.30 A. M. Monday will be at Mrs. Earl G. Wagner's, Righter's Mill road. Speaker: Mrs. William Kurtz Myers, president of the Garden Club of Bala-Cynwyd. Topic: "Conserve the Christmas Greens."

An executive board meeting was held Thursday at the home of the president, Mrs. John A. Lafore, Penn Valley Farms.

Hallowe'en Party Success; May Become Annual Event

Main Liners made merry in a big way last Saturday night at the Hallowe'en Midnight Rumble at the Egyptian Theatre. The crowd, which almost taxed the capacity of the Egyptian Theatre, were nearly all in costume. Spanish Cavaliers, royal princesses, gorgeous wood nymph vied for honors with cowboys, Charlie McCarthys and most every character under the sun.

The committee that judged the winners in the masquerade was as follows: Roy and Mrs. J. Samuel Stephenson, Mr. and Mrs. Evan Russell, Mr. and Mrs. J. O. Boylan, Mrs. Helen Greenwood and Miss Virginia Hill-dreth. The prizes were awarded to the most original male, dressed as Boob McNutt, and the most original girl, who came as Cinderella.

Uncle Ezra appeared in person and did a funny acrobatic dance and the hill billy band played some lively tunes on their "tooters." Twenty pie-eating contestants ate their way through gooey huckleberry pies and of course there was a winner, but his mouth was so filled with pie that he couldn't tell his name. Bobbing for apples was a great sight to behold. Showman Conway made an astute master of ceremonies and kept the festivities moving at a fast pace. And at "the back of the house," everybody got their fill of cider. The surprise feature was "Charlie Chan at the Olympics."

Because of its tremendous success, it is expected the Hallowe'en Midnight Rumble will be continued as an annual community event.

There is also a reduction in electric service rates for certain municipal uses.

Every residential customer of the Philadelphia Electric Company can benefit by the reduction in the cost of electric service.

General Light and Power customers can benefit substantially through this new reduction in electric rates. Smaller commercial establishments and miscellaneous users now served under this schedule will find a real reduction in the cost of better lighting, air-conditioning and ventilation, and of operating heating and motor-driven appliances.

High School Student Cleared in Auto Death

William Farmer, 17, Struck Six-Year-Old Boy in Bala

A Lower Merion High School senior was exonerated of manslaughter charges in connection with the death of a six-year-old Merion boy by a coroner's jury at Norristown October 27.

He is William Farmer, 17, son of C. Arley Farmer, Philadelphia optician, who lives at 424 Woodbine avenue, Narberth, whose automobile struck and fatally injured Harry McCloud, on Old Lancaster road near Upland road, Bala, on September 23.

The dead boy was the son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry A. McCloud, 216 Upland road, Merion. His father is employed by the Philadelphia Surgical Instrument Company.

According to testimony at a preliminary hearing, the McCloud boy ran off the sidewalk into the path of the car. With Farmer in the car was another Lower Merion senior, William Clippsham, 17, of 523 Brookhurst avenue, Narberth.

The youths were taking the Farmers' maid to the trolley at 54th and City Line avenue.

Farmer took the boy to Bryn Mawr Hospital where he died a few minutes after admittance of a fractured skull.

Well Babies at Child Health Center

Mrs. C. A. Farmer, of the Narberth Club, chairman; Mrs. W. R. Knauer, of the club, first vice-chairman; Mrs. Naomi L. Gable, director of the Health Service of the Health and Civic Association; Mrs. Roy C. Williams, of the Narberth Board of Health; Mrs. Ernest C. Drew and Mrs. W. N. Mills.

A staff of enthusiastic volunteers handles the routine work each week. Mrs. Farmer has given her time one day a week throughout the year for the seven years of the Center's existence, and Mrs. Knauer and Mrs. Drew have each been with it for six years. Some of the other volunteers are: Mrs. C. W. Sunderland, Mrs. C. E. Starr, Mrs. W. H. Muller. All are members of the Narberth club.

The report given at the executive committee meeting covering the month of September includes: Number given toxoid, 6; number examined by Dr. Polk, 73; number attending for the first time this year, 12; cases referred to physicians, 4; cases referred to other agencies, 2.

The corrective work of the Center is most important. Many parents feel they cannot afford a doctor for a child unless he is ill, but a check-up at the Center warns the mother of any defects and enables her to have them corrected before the child's health is impaired. Several weeks ago Dr. Polk noticed a squint in the eye of a three-year-old girl and sent her to an ophthalmologist for glasses. Her eyes will be tested at intervals at the Center and by the time she goes to school they should be normal. Many cases of bad tonsils are discovered and referred to doctors before the child's general health is affected. Doctor Polk recently removed a large stomach which was causing starvation in a five weeks' old baby, and each week that baby is checked at the Center.

Center babies are fat and healthy as a rule. The volunteers are proud of the three sets of twins who come frequently. The volunteers prepare the room before two o'clock. Each child has his own little table to lie upon while he is stripped for weighing. Then he is dressed and waits his turn for consultation in the doctor's office. Equipment is sterilized, hospital-clean. Babies with a possible illness are kept outside until the doctor can examine them—no infectious diseases are allowed in.

Although the Center is financially maintained by the club and the board of health, it works with the Health and Civic Association, which covers the territory from Villanova to Overbrook. Mrs. Gable made her report on the Association at the Center executive meeting. She said the Association has ten visiting nurses and needs eleven. The nurses are supported by various funds: a patient pays anything he can afford from a dollar a visit down; two insurance companies pay a fraction; proceeds from the Bryn Mawr Horse Show and other donations help; and the Board of Health of the district served contributes.

Miss Drane's report from the Association on nursing service for September in Narberth and Merion covers the following 152 visits: Maternity, 40; pre-natal, 12; post-partum, 17; newborn, 11; non-communicable, 88; health supervision, 21; infant, 6; pre-school, 12; school, 3; other visits, 3; miles traveled, 282. is used, and the master craftsmen even make their own tools. She showed modern copies of bowls designed by Paul Revere, who was a silversmith, and a copy of a coffee pot used today in Windsor Castle and which was made in 1493. She also explained how the word "Sterling" came from a group of German tradesmen named Esterling, who were using 925 parts of pure silver to 75 parts of copper to give their articles firmness, back in 1300 in England. That same standard is still used, but was not made legal until Theodore Roosevelt passed the National Stamp Act thirty years ago.

Mrs. E. Hoffman, of the Main Line Branch of the Red Cross in Ardmore, announced that the Red Cross drive would start November 11 and outlined the work of the six branches of the organization.

Mrs. E. W. Heymann, club president, presided, and reports were given by committee chairmen.

Mrs. E. J. Pollock, Programs, announced that November 16 the husbands of members will be invited to the meeting at 8.30 in the Community room, when prominent sportsmen will talk. Names of husbands attending should be given Mrs. J. E. Burrell in advance.

Health Center Bridge Today

Mrs. G. W. Orth, Projects, announced 25 tables have been taken for today's luncheon and bridge at 12.30, at the home of Mrs. Robert Nash, Narberth and Price avenues. Tickets are sixty cents and proceeds will go toward the Health Center. Prizes will be given.

Mrs. G. B. Suplee said the next art pilgrimage will be Tuesday, with a Fashion Show at the House of Wenger, followed by lunch at Schrafft's, and a visit to the Rosenbach Galleries in the afternoon.

Mrs. J. A. Hongler, Education, asked those wishing to take the trip to Girard College November 26 to meet at the south side of Narberth Station at 2.30. She also asked that club members interested in a public speaking course give their names to the secretary, Mrs. William Muller.

Mrs. J. S. Harris, Home Department, schedules 11 A. M., November 11, for sewing for the Red Cross, at her home, the Sabine Apartments. Members are to bring sandwiches.

Mrs. Joseph Gurbarg, Literature and International Relations, announced her group's next meeting will be at the home of Mrs. Harry C. Middleton, Jr., 5 Shirley road, on Tuesday. Mrs. C. E. Starr will talk on International Relations, of which she is associate chairman, and Mrs. E. A. Jamison will review "Paradise," by Esther Forbes. Mrs. A. C. Muller will be co-hostess; dessert luncheon will be served.

Mrs. C. L. Wells, co-chairman of Fellowship, explained that proceeds from the Fellowship bridge luncheons go to buy flowers and cards for ill members of the club and for Christmas baskets for the poor. The next bridge will be November 19, at Mrs. W. H. Muller's, 35 Sabine avenue. Each of the eight members of the committee brings a guest and all pay 50 cents each.

Local Residents Appointed to Campaign Committee

Carroll Baxter, of Penarth road, Cynwyd, and James E. O'Connell, of Narberth, have been appointed by Judge Harry S. McDevitt as captains in the campaign to raise funds for the Christian Brothers and LaSalle College, marking the seventy-fifth anniversary of LaSalle College.

Captains and workers of 140 parishes launched the $300,000 campaign at a meeting in the LaSalle gymnasium on Thursday evening.

The campaign will be conducted during this month among 800,000 Catholics in ten counties.

HAGY—TRACY

The marriage of Miss Sara Jane Tracy, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Myron E. Tracy, Baird road, Merion, and Mrs. J. Milton Hagy, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. J. Milton Hagy, East Marshall road, Lansdowne, took place 7.30 Saturday evening in All Saint's Church, Wynnewood.

Miss Jean Tracy, sister of the bride, was the maid of honor; bridesmaids were Miss Cary Haines, Miss Marie B. Washington, Miss Nancy Hagy, sister of the bridegroom, and Miss Mildred McCormick, New Rochelle,

HOLY TRINITY LUTHERAN CHURCH

Since its inception, November 6, 1932, the annual Homecoming and Family Worship Service held at Holy Trinity Lutheran Church has steadily gained in attendance, and has consistently fostered deeper interest.

This year, while the Committee is striving to have the largest attendance, they are also desirous of bringing about renewed activity in the various Church organizations. As one of the 3800 congregations of the United Lutheran Church in America, Holy Trinity has already adopted the "Whole Program of the Whole Church," and every member is urged to acquaint himself with this intensive and comprehensive program.

On next Sunday—November 7—present and former members, their families, and friends, are cordially invited to worship at this Homecoming Service, and to make it a time for spiritual rejoicing and rededication. —(By a member.)

PUBLICITY CONTRIBUTED TOO LATE TO EDIT:

The regular monthly meeting of the Narberth Players will be held Tuesday evening, November 9, at Elm Hall. A fine evening of entertainment followed by refreshments has been arranged for and it is hoped that all members and their friends will attend.

American Education Week will be celebrated at the Narberth School with a program at 2.30 P. M. Tuesday on Horace Mann, the great proponent of modern education. This is the centennial of his election to the Massachusetts State Board. Parents are invited to the meeting and the Parent-Teacher tea which will follow. . . .

Next Friday will be Visiting Day; parents are invited to see the work done in classrooms.

The S. E. District of the Parent and Teachers' Association will hold a conference in Lancaster this Friday afternoon and all day Saturday. Miss Frances Hays, of the National P. T. A., is in charge.

Bullock Sanderson Post will be lined up at attention at 11 o'clock next Thursday morning, when Strawbridge & Clothier's Main Line Store holds Armistice Day Services, color bearers on each side of the speaker of the occasion. The simple service which is held at this store every Armistice Day, is a beautiful tribute, and is always well attended.

GOP Carries Borough by Thousand Margin

Robert Collins, on both tickets for a two-year term as school director, totaled 1901 votes. For the six-year term, the Republican incumbents, Dr. Walter Steckbeck, 1531, and Mrs. H. R. Rinehart, 1482, led Democrats Harmeline Y. Rich, 368, and Ruth Haws Nash, 478.

The only real contest was for magistrate. For all his complimentary Democratic vote, Joe Magarity suffered from the campaign waged for and against Roy Gowland, whose nomination in September put ailing Squire H. C. Fritsch out of the running. Roy, who is president of Narberth's Business Council, polled 1399 votes to Horace T. Smedley's 1531; both the Republicans were elected, to succeed Messrs. Magarity and Fritsch. The Republican votes by districts: (1) Gowland 442, Smedley 493; (2) Gowland 647, Smedley 687; (3) Gowland 310, Smedley 351.

Republicans in the borough's smallest district, No. 3, voted 89 per cent of their registration, Democrats 52 per cent of theirs.

Montgomery County Firemen's Association representatives will be guests of the Bryn Mawr Company this Saturday, with Joseph B. Allen, Jr., as host president.

N. Y.

Mr. James W. Hagy was best man for his brother; ushers included Mr. C. Edwin Hunter, Mr. Herbert Jones, Mr. Herbert Ogden, Mr. Carl Jones, Mr. Herbert Hayes and Mr. George Garwood.

A reception followed. Mr. Hagy and his bride will reside in Lansdowne after their honeymoon.

CHRISTMAS BAZAAR

To be Held November 17 by Daughters of the British Empire

The annual Christmas bazaar of the Daughters of the British Empire, in aid of the Victoria Home for Aged British, will be held on Wednesday, November 17, from 2 until 10 P. M., at St. James Guild House, 2210 Sansom street, Philadelphia.

The various chapters belonging to the organization will have stalls on which will be found interesting suggestions for Christmas gifts, and delicious home-cooked food, all having a distinctly British influence—plum puddings, sausage rolls, pork pies, etc.

Afternoon tea will cost but 25 cents and an interesting feature is the fortune teller, who for a modest sum, depicts the future. The dinner in the evening, costing but 75 cents, is entirely the work of members, who do all the preparation and cooking.

The interest which has been taken in Bank Night at the Egyptian Theatre has prompted the management to extend it. Starting next week theatre patrons, in order to be represented on Thursday, may sign an attendance card by attending the Thursday matinee or the show on Wednesday night.

Building in Township Nearly $900,000 Over Mark for 1936 Period

October Construction Shows 29 Single Houses Being Built for $363,052

SOUTH ARDMORE LEADS

October saw Lower Merion's 1937 building figure come closer to the million-dollar increase mark that may be reached before January 1.

The 10-month total is $4,201,036, as against $3,314,693 in the same 1936 period, an increase of $886,343.

Building for the month was estimated at $480,059, and included 120 permits, according to C. E. Rahn, superintendent of building inspection.

Single-family dwellings again led the totals with 29 permits for $303,052 aggregate. A heating system and 41 installations of oil burners accounted for 42 permits and $26,874.

South Ardmore, with 26 operations for $156,590, and Merion Square (Gladwyne), with 9 permits totaling $99,145, saw the most construction work started.

Other districts reported as to permits and estimated buildings started were: North Ardmore, 13, $36,627; West Ardmore, 7, $4,714; Bala, 4, $3,147; East Bryn Mawr, 4, $3,147; West Bryn Mawr, 1, $300; Cynwyd, 11, $29,212; General Wayne, 10, $43,400; Haverford, 3, $767; Merion, 13, $21,145; Pencoyd, 9, $22,505; Rosemont, 10, $59,750.

Dick the Dean will be full of remarks this week about the forthcoming game between Lower Merion and Norristown, tomorrow afternoon at Villanova Stadium. More glory to his efforts to save the wounds of the Blue Eagles which have turned to scars during the past twenty years of intermittent rivalry between the two large suburban schools.

Not since 1918 has the Blue and White been able to tame the belligerent Bulldog with the exception of the past two years, when Norristown won by scores of 18 to 0 and 18 to 7. On the basis of the laws of compensation the boys from the Schuylkill are still due to win, and unless the Main Liners play as well as they did against Pottstown, the visitors undoubtedly will win.

Norristown has not dropped a decision so far. Two tie games are on the records, however, a 7 to 7 tie with Haverford, and a 0 to 0 verdict with Phoenixville. Lower Merion has two defeats and one tie game to remember. Abington, a league rival, and Williamson Trade School topped the Bulldogs, while Easton won a tie decision. Statistics favor Norristown but this Column's confidence favors the Maroon. Statistics and this column have met head-on many times before and I can't be sure but that, with a few exceptions, the former has had the better of the arguments. But lead on MacDuff.

Penn State comes to Franklin Field tomorrow with Harry Harrison, one of the sweetest ball carriers in college ranks. Penn always has a busy afternoon with the Lions from the Nittany Hills and this year will bring no exception. Papa Penn's sword will sag in sorrow unless Harvey shows the boys the way to victory again tomorrow.

The Navy victory of last week was necessary, but it was not enough. Penn must win and win and win; so here's a highball at nightfall to Penn-sylva-ni-a.

Confidentially we're still looking for a sports writer who can give birth to something besides a "goat."

Dick Mattis leads his boys against Haverford Junior High this afternoon on Pennypacker Field. Lower Merion should win, but strange things can happen. The boys went to Harrisburg last week and outplayed the Edison team in all departments of the game except in scoring. They lost, 7 to 6, while they should have been winning by a margin of three touchdowns. However, the eight-year reign over Suburban Junior High Schools should continue tomorrow. Coach Mattis has still to know what defeat means from any Suburban Junior High School over a period of eight years.

Dr. Robert E. Barr wants to know why the Lower Merion-Radnor game isn't played on Thanksgiving morning, instead of the last Saturday be-

Lower Merion Republicans Sweep Offices; Aid Co. Victory

Montgomery county went Republican about 3 to 1 Tuesday.

And Lower Merion's G. O. P. not only swelled the county total but elected all township candidates by an even greater margin.

Peter C. Hess, Main Line Republican leader, seeking his fourth term as township treasurer, handily defeated Charles Lachman, Democrat, 8937 to 2396. Hess carried every district, his high vote being in Merion, 959 to 215, while in Pencoyd, Lachman's home-and-best district, only gave the Democrat 275 to 453 for Hess.

Franklin P. Kromer, Cynwyd, was re-elected justice of the peace, winning from Henry Friedman, Bryn Mawr Democrat, 8712 to 2523.

All the Republican school directors and township commissioners were re-elected.

Lower Merion and Narberth combined to give Earl B. Bechtel, Pottstown, Republican candidate for prothonotary, 10,431 to 2719 for Irwin W. Kehs, Collegeville Democrat.

For jury commissioner, Samuel M. Glass, Whitemarsh Republican, topped Joseph L. McElhatton, West Conshohocken Democrat, 10,626 to 3068 in the township-borough vote.

The two unopposed candidates for re-election, Judge Harold G. Knight, of the Common Pleas Court, and Judge J. Burnett Holland, of the Orphans' Court, received a high complimentary vote throughout the county.

Four Republican school directors were re-elected by the following vote: J. Herbert Baltz, 8763; Dr. Joseph W. Anderson, 8759; E. E. Ludwick, 8578; Dr. Joseph W. Sands, 8834.

Their Democratic opponents received the following votes:

Dr. Frederick J. Manning, 2859, highest vote given any local Democrat; A. Paul Shalet, 2361; Mrs. Elizabeth Hanger, 2453; John McConaghy, 2523.

The size of both Main Line and Montgomery county vote was a surprise. Both parties worked hard but there are more Republicans.

Judge Theodore Rosen, who broke the otherwise Democratic slate in Philadelphia, has Governor Earle to thank for his victory. Not intentionally, of course; the governor just talked too much.

All the proposed State Amendments lost except the one authorizing assistance to widowed mothers and pensions to aged persons. The latter also was the only proposed amendment approved by Main Liners. Worst smacked, No. 2—to permit a graded income tax.

Captain Gearhart Assumes New Duties

Captain Samuel W. Gearhart took up his official duties as Superintendent of Lower Merion Police Monday morning.

The new police head was given the oath by Judge Harold G. Knight, president judge of the Montgomery County Courts and presented with his badge of office by Colonel Erskine Bains, chairman of the Police and Fire Committees, at a brief ceremony held last Friday in the Township Building, Ardmore.

Julius Zieget, president of the Board of Commissioners, announced the first step in the police reorganization plan and stated that additional details will be made public soon.

The Reading Club held its season's first meeting yesterday at Mrs. Royal D. Thomas', 710 Braeburn road, Penn Valley. Mrs. John D. Gill, Bryn Mawr avenue, Cynwyd, gave an interesting talk on her trip to Europe this summer. The club is reading and discussing "The Miracle of England."

fore Thanksgiving each year. Perhaps the thought in Dr. Barr's mind is that it would enable hundreds of football fans who follow either Temple or Villanova to see that game and also the Lower Merion-Radnor game.

The Radnor game with the Maroon is undoubtedly the classic high school football contest of Suburban Philadelphia and one of the ranking games of the entire country when boys' games are considered. The Villanova-Temple rivalry has grown in importance to rank as one of the outstanding college games in the East. Fans from the Main Line do not want to miss either of these games.

From a pocketbook viewpoint, it might be advisable for the schools concerned to take these facts into consideration for the future.

Narberth's football eleven lost, 0 to 6, to a strong Grays Ferry team last Sunday.
